Drivers Assistant Systems Team – Accident Research in Japan
News Letter Job Description

Short description of department's responsibility

As an intern at the Mercedes-Benz Research and Development Japan (RDJ) office in Kawasaki you will have the opportunity to experience an intercultural Research & Development working environment of a leading luxury car manufacturer.

You will improve your language skills by communicating in our team as well as doing translation work (mainly Japanese -> English). Furthermore, you will gain knowledge of the automotive industry by performing market research / analysis and creating industry related presentations.

As part of the driver assistance team, you will be responsible for the following tasks:

Description of Trainee tasks

Accident Research (60%)

- Analyzing of accident statistic data in Japan
- Analyzing of accident research in the Japanese government projects
- Reporting to Daimler R&D Germany

Translation (30%)

- Translations of important documents from Japanese to English
- Translation of technical documents from Japanese to English

Others (10%)

- Supporting the team with their daily tasks, e.g. meeting arrangements, mailing, filling system organization etc.

Required specialized knowledge:

-

Preferred language abilities:

- Fluent English (B2/C1)
- Fluent Japanese (equal to JLPT N2)

Preferred skills:

- Microsoft Office (e.g. Excel, Power Point)

If you are interested in the above position, please send your:

- Cover Letter

- CV (with a picture not older than 6 month)

- Transcript of records from your university

- Japanese Self-Introduction (500 characters)

- If applicable certificates/references of previous internships, work experiences, language skills etc. …directly to the following email address: dcjhra.trainee@daimler.com

*Please do not attach packed files, e.g. zip files.